A DEADLY EQUIPMENT

Carries New Torpedo With Range of Seventeen Thousand Yards

Portsmouth, Aug. 20.—The Orion, Great Britain's newest and greatest battleship was launched here in the presence of King Alfonso and Queen Victoria of Spain, and a distinguished gathering of naval officers and representatives of public life. Compared with the armored cruiser Orion, of 26,350 tons just launched, the Orion will displace only 22,500 tons, but her 135 inch guns and her new deadly equipment of torpedoes renders her by far the most powerful battleship afloat. The new torpedo to be carried by the Orion weighs nearly a ton and its range will exceed seventeen thousand yards at a speed of forty knots. The torpedo carries a charge of gun cotton weighing 250 pounds. The Orion will have a speed of 21 knots and will carry four thousand tons of fuel, giving her an unusually wide radius of action.

VETERANS ASS'N. ADD NEW MEMBERS

Big Meeting of Imperial Veterans' Association Was Held in Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Aug. 20.—At a record meeting of the Imperial Veterans' Association last night 433 new names were added to the rolls, bringing the membership up to 2,200.

It was decided to apply to the federal government for arms and an armory in connection with a proposed rifle association.

Among last night's enrollment were three clergymen and several Cripple veterans.

Among the reports read was one from Vancouver, to the effect that the Old Campaigners' Association had resolved to affiliate with the Imperial Veterans. Favorable reports as to enrollment and organization were received from Capt. Bliss, at Battleford, Capt. Walton at Prince Albert, Capt. Weldon at Grenfell, and Col. Gault at Calgary. Companies were also reported in course of formation at Rainy River, Broadview, Victoria and Regina.

After some discussion it was resolved not to make any restrictions, but members must have a medal, or ten hours' actual service to qualify.

Linnburg, N. S., Aug. 20.—Dan Christopher, 18 years old, employed as a brakeman on the Halifax and South Western Railway, attempted to step from one box car to the next when the running board broke, precipitating him between the cars. He was killed.

WAS NOT TRUE

DELIBERATELY WADED INTO RIVER AND DROWNED HIMSELF

UNKNOWN CHINAMAN COMMITTED SUICIDE IN THE RIVER THIS MORNING—FOUR WITNESSES SAW HIM BUT COULD NOT PREVENT HIM DROWNING.

An unknown Chinaman committed suicide at about 7:30 this morning by drowning himself in the Saskatchewan river at a point on the Edmonton side, about 300 yards east of the bridge. There were three witnesses to the suicide, which was most deliberate. The Chinaman drowned himself by walking out until he got beneath his depth, and he has not been seen since.

Several Saw Suicide

The three witnesses to the suicide were members of the Voligny survey party. Herbert Kemp, one of the witnesses, stated to the Capital that the first time he saw the Chinaman, which was in turn tied to the river bank. By gesture, the Chinaman led us to believe that the motor launch was his and that he wanted my canoe removed. I loosed the line of the canoe and brought it to the shore. The Chinaman thereupon picked up the bundle of bedding and walked towards the canoe, and was in the act of throwing it in when he saw that it was loaded with something else. He walked to another canoe near by and threw the bedding in. As he did so I turned my attention to my own canoe, and in a few seconds my attention was attracted by a splash. On looking around I saw the Chinaman in the water up to his waist. He started to walk outwards and then turned and walked down the river. At times he was very close to the bank.

Tried to Lasso Him

"As I saw he was bent on something rash I made a move out of a piece of rope and tried to lasso him, but as I was poised to throw it, he the Chinaman disappeared from view and I never saw him again. I put out in my canoe to see if I could find any traces of him, but I was unsuccessful.

Talked to Cook

P. A. Paterson, the man who reported the affair to the police, when seen, corroborated Kemp's story.

Louis Jardine, the half breed, states that he saw the Chinaman at about seven o'clock, when (he Jardine) was making the fire to get breakfast.

"The Chinaman came up and spoke to me," said Jardine, "but I did not know what he was saying. I called to Kemp. At that point Petersen came up and he and Kemp tried to talk to the Chinaman.

Jardine stated that he continued the preparation of breakfast, and that a little while later he heard a splash and looking around saw the Chinaman in the water and walking parallel to the bank. In a few minutes he disappeared.

"I walked up and down the bank several times," stated Jardine, "but I could not see anything of him."

The suicide of a Chinaman is a rare occurrence, and it is probably the first time in Edmonton that a Celestial has taken his own life.

In this case it is probable that the Chinaman was mentally deranged. The body has not yet been found.

Mr. Peters, assistant vice-president of the C. P. R., in reply to Mayor Lee's telegram, asking him to represent the railroad at a proposed function of turning the first sod of the high level bridge, states that he finds it necessary to decline with thanks. The telegram was dated Victoria, B.C. Mayor Lee stated this morning that unless some official of the company can be prevailed upon to come, the ceremony will be called off.

COUNCIL ACCEPTS OFFER OF 20 ACRES

Special Meeting of the City Council Was Held This Morning

An informal meeting of the city council was held this morning for the purpose of discussing the offer of Caruthers, Round & Co. of property to the amount of twenty acres in the Glenora estate to the city in consideration of the construction of a forty-foot bridge across the Grosz ravine. The offer is made in lieu of $10,000 which the commissioners desired to ask those interested in the construction of a larger and better bridge to continue. The offer was accepted, and a formal report of the committee of the council will be presented at the regular meeting, when the acceptance will likely be confirmed.

The property offered embraces two ravines on the estate and besides block 108, lot 1 in block 109, block 106, lot 3 in block 107, block 91, block 82, lot 3 in block 83, lot 1 in block 81, lot 1 in block 85, and several other parcels of property unsubdivided.

The offer was made with the distinct understanding that the land should be dedicated solely for park or ornamental purposes, to the use of the public for ever, and that the construction of a 40-foot bridge be proceeded with at once without further delay.

On account of the acceptance of the offer plans will be prepared at once for a 40-foot structure, and they will probably be ready for the next meeting of the council.

Miss Florence Nightingale Most Revered Woman in the Empire, Laid to Rest

THOUSANDS AT SERVICE

Great Memorial Service in St. Paul's Cathedral—King and Queen and Mother Present

London, Aug. 20.—Florence Nightingale, the famous nurse of the Crimea, who died on August 13th, at her London home, was buried this afternoon beside the bodies of her father and mother in the churchyard of the little village of East Willow. In accordance with her own expressed wish for a simple private funeral, the ceremony was of the quietest nature, the only reminder of her great services to the army and nation being the presence of a squad of the Grenadier Guards who acted as bearers. Outside of these, only members of the immediate family and a few retainers were present at the funeral.

Public tribute to the "Angel of the Crimea" was paid at a memorial service at noon, at St. Paul's Cathedral here, at which King George, Queen Mary, the Queen Mother Alexandra, the war office and admiralty and the greater part of the British public bodies and colonies were represented. The cathedral was crowded with the official representatives and thousands of private persons, who said they came to do homage to the dead nurse, but were unable to find places inside the church, and so stood outside during the ceremony.

BUILDING LOCKOUT IS NOT COMPLETE

Secretary of Winnipeg Bricklayers' Union Says Only About Forty Per Cent Out

CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE

Builders' Exchange Claims Men Have Broken Clause of Their Agreement

Winnipeg, Aug. 20.—The strike situation is unchanged overnight, both sides displaying great firmness. A prolonged struggle will of course affect the allied trades and cause a good deal of distress among their families, as well as inconvenience to contractors and clients for whom buildings were being erected. Master builders complain of a breach of agreement with the union that specifically says there shall be no strikes until the matter in dispute has been submitted to arbitration and on the other hand, the union makes the point that the Builders' Exchange has never officially notified them of a decision and that all they know is what is contained in the press.

The secretary of the union states that only 250 of 600 members have been locked out, while Secretary Buxton states that 95 per cent, of the men are or will be affected. Apparently no general meeting of the union has been held, as the executive committee resolved to stand pat, and in this attitude the men have concurred.

SESSIONS OF THE METH. CONFERENCE

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 19.—Committee meetings occupy the mornings of general conference.

The rate of progress at present is slow. The talkers, however, will soon be through and business will go forward at a more rapid rate.

A new preparatory college at Calgary has been decided upon by the educational committee. Letbridge made a strong claim for this school.

From another direction we hear the recommendation that women are to be admitted into the church courts.

This afternoon the conference heard the report of the union churches relief fund, by the treasurer, John N. Lake. Rev. T. E. Bartley was not satisfied with the treatment that had been meted out to the Old Agnes Church. The report was laid over while a committee appointed by the chairman looked into the matter. This fund was established in 1884, and this is the winding up of report.

A Breezy Session

No session since Monday has been so breezy as that at which the itinerant committee reported. They recommend practically an eight-year term for any pastorate, provided there is a two-thirds vote of the quarterly board from year to year. A dozen men were on their feet for amendments and speech. The eight-year term limit, a compromise of five years, and then six years, were moved down like grass before a scythe.

The conference went so decidedly for the present four-year term that it was not necessary to count the votes. Revs. Dr. Ross, Dr. Hertz, Dr. Sparling, of Winnipeg, Dr. Cleaver, Joseph Gibson and Justice MacLennan spoke on the question for the present arrangement. Dr. Fortner, Dr. Sheer, Rev. John Locke and Dr. Burns pleaded for the lengthening of the term.

Two Sides to Question

The former held that the arrangement at present was made for the peace of the church and that there was no general demand for a change; the latter held that better work could be done on a longer term; that large churches demanded it, and that much of the opposition to the change came from men who themselves were occupying offices of unlimited tenure.

The general secretary is making a protest against this, but so far has not been able to secure any concessions.

RANCH LIFE IN THE SOUTH-WEST

Starland has a magnificent and unique picture for its patrons for Monday and Tuesday next. "Ranch Life in the Great Southwest" has created more actual comment and brought forth more inquiries from the vast sea of exhibitors throughout the world than any subject ever put upon the market. With its bucking bronchos, pitching mustangs, bucking steers, and the acme of all thrillers—bulldozing a steer. It is a picture which is bound to impress. Many a cowboy has tried the latter feat, but only three ever lived to tell the tale. The photographer has caught the wild spirit of his subject, and puts the finishing touches to this great masterpiece. Next week being fair week is appropriate for the appearance of Mr. Hendra, the well known violinist of this attraction. His music will be an extra attraction at this popular theatre.

AT THE EMPIRE"The Burgomaster"

At last a real musical gem, presented by a company of exceptional merit, will prove quite an innovation to local music lovers. This musical treat is "The Burgomaster," with the original mayor of New Amsterdam, Gus C. Weinburg, who is supported by an exceptionally large company of 66 people, including Phemie Lockhart, Geo. McKissack, Harry Scott, Fred Bailey and a great big chorus including the original Kangaroo girls. The date for "The Burgomaster" is Monday, August 22, for six nights at the Empire Theatre.

Lots of Fun at the Lyceum

"The Edmonton Exhibition" is the title of the new bill for Monday at the Lyceum, by Sherman's Musical Comedy Company, and this bill will be just simply alive with all the newness and bright features that can be crammed into one bill.

There is not an idle moment in it at all, and every member is well cast in a part suited to them with enough music to make it the hit of the season. As for the musical numbers there will be a new idea introduced which is a burlesque on the Edmonton Fair, this should be a novel feature in the way of a show.

The girls are hard workers and have been doing some very good work of late.

The Sherman Musical Comedy Company will move to the Edmonton

Opera House which will be known as the Lyceum, starting their engagement there next Monday, August 22. The same policy will prevail there as at the Empire now. Two shows at night, with a complete change of programme twice a week on Mondays and Thursday and a big matinee every day at 3 p.m.

When the Sunday sermon car is slanted upwards the other car should be stuffed with batting to prevent ideas from passing through.

The Western Canada Coal Co.

Control 10,000 acres of surface and coal rights adjoining the town of Entwistle, for which they paid $1,100,000. This property is now being developed on a large scale, over forty men being employed at the present time. The company expects to be operating in October, and to have an output of 500 tons per day, which will be gradually increased to 1,000 tons per day.

The Black Diamond Coal Co.

Recently incorporated in the State of Washington, with a capital of $3,000,000, announce that they have acquired 4,480 acres of coal rights at Entwistle, and that development work will start at once. These two companies will employ upwards of 1,000 men in the course of the next few months.

Lumber Mills

At Entwistle employ forty men at the present time.

The Grand Trunk Pacific

Reached Entwistle ten months ago, and the development of the wonderful natural resources of the Pembina River immediately started, and today the development work has reached the stage where it is assured hundreds of men will be employed in mines, quarries and lumber mills.

The Canadian Northern Railway

Will lay steel into Entwistle this fall, furnishing the second transcontinental railroad, and offering mine owners, lumbermen and merchants competitive rates. Entwistle will be the terminus of the C.N.R. for one year, while their high level bridge over the Pembina River is being built. There is no other city in the Province where there is so much development work taking place. Entwistle is bound to be a city, and in the immediate future. Satan Sanderson

By HALLIE ERMINE RIVES,
Author of "Hearts Courageous," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1908, THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

Starting in a kind of strained and horrified expectancy.

would the even voice, a sort of detonation in it. "You will feel like apologizing presently."

Devlin came on with a bull-like rush.
The lawyer's eye, shrewdly gauging the situation, gave the slighter man short shift, and for several intense seconds every breath stopped. Those seconds called up from some mysterious covert
all the skill and strength of the old hard hitting Satan Sanderson, all the science of parry and feint learned in those bluff college bouts with the gloves with Gentleman Jim.

It was a short, sharp contest. Not a blow broke the guard of the man whose back was to the doorway. On the other hand, Devlin's face was puffed and bleeding. When for a breath he drew back, gulping a sudden glint of doubt and fear had slipped beneath the blood and sweat.

The end came quickly. Harry stopped to meet him, there was a series of swift passes—then one, two fighting-like blows, and Devlin went down white and stunned in the dust of the roadway.

So high was the tension and so instantaneous the close that for a moment the crowd was motionless, the spell still upon them. In that moment Tom Felder came hastily forward, for,
though sharing the general dislike, admiration was strong in him, and knowing the temper of the bystanders,
he expected trouble.

The man who had administered De-vlin's punishment, however, did not see his approach. He was looking somewhere above their heads—at the upper balcony of the hotel opposite—starting in a kind of strained and horrified expectancy at a girl who leaned forward,
her hands clenching the balustrade, her eyes fixed on his face. There was something in that face, in that intense look, that seemed to cleave the gray veil that swathed Harry Sandeson's past.

Only an instant the gaze hung be-lween them. It served as a distraction, for other eyes had raced to the balcony.

The clamoring voices were suddenly hushed, for there was not wanting in the crowd that instinctive regard for the proprieties which belongs to communities where gentlemen are few.
In that instant Felder put his hand on the arm of the staring man and drew him to the door of the hotel.

"Inside, quickly!" he said under his breath, for a rumble from the crowd told him the girl had left the balcony above. He pushed the other through the doorway and turned for a second on the threshold.

"Whatever private feelings you may have," he said in a tone that all heard,
"don't disgrace the town. Fair play, no matter who he is! McGlin, I should think you, at least, were big enough to settle your grudges without the help of a crowd."

Chapter 13

THE man whose part the lawyer had taken had yielded to his touch almost dazedly as the girl disappeared.

"That was a close sneak," said Felder to him, "Do you realize that? In five minutes more you'd have been handled a sight worse than you handled your man, let me tell you!"

The man of no memories smiled, the same smile that had infuriated the barroom—and yet somehow it was more difficult to smile now.

"Is it possible," he asked, "that through an unlucky error I have trounced the local archbishop?"

Felder looked at him narrowly. De-neath the sarcasm he distinguished unfamiliarity, aloofness, a genuine astonishment. The appearance in the person of Hugh Stires of the qualities of nerve and courage had surprised him out of his usual indifference. The "tinhorn gambler" had fought like a man. His present sang froid was as singular find he been an absolute stranger in the town he might have acted and spoken no differently. Felder's smooth shaven, earnest face was puzzled as he answered curtly:

"You've trounced a man who will remember it a long time."

"He?" said the man addressed easily.
"He has a better memory than I, then."

He gazed over the heads of the silent roomful to the shimmering street, where Devlin, with the aid of a supporting arm, was staggering into the saloon in which his humiliation had begun.

"They seem agitated," he said. The feeling of embarrassment was passing;
the old daring was lifting. His glance, scanning the room, set itself on a shal-
by, clear figure in the background apologetic, yet keenly and pridefully interested. A whimsical light was in his eye. He crossed to him and, reaching out his hand, drew the violin from under his arm.

"Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast," he said, and, opening the door, he tucked the instrument
under his chin and began to play.

What absolute contempt of danger,
what insane prompting possessed, can scarcely be imagined. Felder looked for a quick end to the folly, but he saw the men in the street even as they moved forward waver and pause.
With almost the first note it had come to them that they were hearing music such as the squeaking blades of the dance halls never knew. There on the opposite pavement pressed over, and

COMMISSIONER'S MEETING

The reconstruction of the power house will be done under the supervision of the city commissioners themselves. This was decided at their meeting yesterday afternoon when the discussion of Mr. J. J. Dunlop's contract for the work. Negotiations will be broken off with Mr. Dunlop, and the expense of reconstruction will be charged to him. In case a legal action eventuates the commissioners will be fore-armed with photographs and records of the power house in its present state.

It was decided to contribute a sum not more than $175 toward the funeral expenses of the late Robert Jones, who was killed on Thursday by electrocution.

On account of the number of complaints made of the inadequate precautions taken to prevent accidents on the radial railway, a report of the department will not be without interest. A few days ago in the neighborhood of the city park, a motorman, by the aid of the powerful headlights on his car was able to discern the figure of a man lying across the track. He had plenty of time to stop the car and remove the man, who was drunk, to a place of safety.

City Engineer Latourel reported favorably on the septic tank. He said that there was no offensive odor except on occasions when the weather was very hot.

S. B. Woods, former deputy attorney-general, who has been in England in connection with the Province of Alberta vs. C. P. R. taxation case before the privy council, returned to Edmonton yesterday. He has also been looking after a minor case between the province and the railroad company.

A dining hall at the exhibition grounds will be opened by the ladies of the East End Catholic Church.

DOGS AND PONIES

The mental superiority of men over beasts will interestingly and uniquely be exemplified in the Downie's Worlds Best Dog and Pony Shows which will exhibit in this city under two large water-proof tents on August 23, 24 and 25.

It is an entertainment in which women and child will find peculiar delight and one that will interest and amuse everyone. There are over 100 animals in the show, the pretty Shetlands and dogs performing many difficult feats.

Among the features will be a military drill by 20 ponies. The dog, Blondin, will walk a high slack rope, carrying a companion on his back. Leaping ponies and hounds, dog eques trians, the corner-suit and boxing dogs together with the greatest troupe of trained goats ever seen.

THE UNFINISHED AND UNEXPLAINED PICTURE

The Shadow of the Cross was painted by a young artist who studied and painted in the art centres of the old world for many years, devoting his talents mainly to the genre subjects.

In September, 1899, he returned to America, his native land, and established his studio in a New England city, where for some time he painted principally portraits and landscapes.

Acting under the influence of some friends, he turned his attention to religious subjects, and, among others, commenced painting a full length figure of Christ, his object being to produce an ideal portrait of the Christ-man.

All in vain, however, until one day the artist was suddenly impressed with the realization that he had at last conceived the idea sought after. Immediately rising, he painted the countenance of Christ, which is seen in the painting.

Not long afterwards, the artist having to go to his studio at night was astonished to discover on entering, that his picture could be distinctly seen in the dark and that Christ appeared to be walking in pale moonlight, while above and behind could be distinctly seen.

His first impression was that the moon was shining through an open window upon the picture, and that the cross was a shadow. He soon discovered that a strange phenomenon had taken place. As he had not thought of a cross in connection with the picture, and had used only well-known pigments, he soon realized that the strange quality of the picture was beyond his power to explain. He was so profoundly impressed that he refused to finish it and the picture remains unfinished to this day.

Though sorrow rhymes with sorrow, laughter is sure to come after.
